

PRIVACY POLICY

Our Commitment to Privacy

The Society for Hematopathology (SH) respects the privacy of its members and those who visit its website and use its educational resources. This Privacy Policy describes how SH collects and uses information when you access the SH website and when you provide personal information for activities solely sponsored by the SH. Any personal information you provide to the SH will be treated with extreme care. It will be used only for SH-related business including but not limited to dissemination of announcements of educational offerings and specialty-related activities.

Use and Disclosure of Collected Information

Data collected by the SH and its management company are used to provide services to the SH members and other users of the SH content. The SH shares collected data including personally identifiable information with its management company and selected third-parties for internal business purposes, and may disclose personally identifiable information as required by law, if the data are subpoenaed.

If you are not a resident of the United States, the use and distribution of collected information may be transferred to and governed by jurisdictions specific to your country, which may be different from processes described in this Privacy Policy. By agreeing to this Privacy Policy, you consent to such transfer.

Email Communications

The SH uses emails as a primary method of communication with its members. The SH members may opt out of receiving emails at any time by contacting the management company as listed below.

Third Party Payment Processor

The SH uses a third-party payment processor to assist in processing your personally identifiable payment information securely. The information collected for membership payment purposes is processed by the management company, American Society for Clinical Pathology, which uses Secure Socket Layer (SSL) technology to process information transfer online.

External Links

The SH Website contains links to other sites. The SH is not responsible for the privacy practices of external websites, which may be inconsistent with this Privacy Policy.

Privacy of Children

The SH does not knowingly collect any information from individuals under the age of 18.

Changes to this Privacy Policy

The SH reserves the right to change this Privacy Policy. Unless otherwise required by law, a notice of any changes to Privacy Policy will be posted on the SH website; SH members should review any posted changes to the Privacy Policy when they visit the SH website.

Contact Us

If you have any questions about this Privacy Policy, please contact the SH management company: mou@ascp.org